the rights and liberties of our nationals."

He said that he held for investigation were of counsel after he had given evidence before the Royal Commission.

"What in the world is the good of offering counsel to people after they have been held in solitary confinement and examined?" he asked. "Can anyone suggest that these are voluntary statements?"

MR. SMITH SAID he wanted to know why the government had appointed two supreme court justices to act as Royal Commissioners when it was in their court as well as appeal would eventually go.

"I am not suggesting for a moment that those two justices will sit on that appeal for a moment," he added. "They are much too honest. Nor am I suggesting that the Honorable Minister of Justice had anything to do with it, but in my mind a terrible mistake has been made."

To this Mr. St. Laurent responded: "When the honorable member says a mistake has been made I am willing to judge the matter to the country as against the judgment of the honorable member."

MR. SMITH SAID Mr. St. Laurent could "submit it in Calgary West any time you want to," and another Progressive Conservative member added: "and in many other spots too."

Mr. St. Laurent: "It so happens that this is the spot it has been submitted at this time. We are present as so, but we represent the whole of Canada."

When all the facts were known he said he believed the people would understand and support the government's action.

Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Smith spoke after Solicitor General Credit River, charged it was quite obvious that the government service, but it is not really being shed at the moment through and through with Communist party members.

THE JUSTICE MINISTER said it was true that those being held were not being held incommunicado if they wanted counsel after they had been testified before the commission.

The investigation was being carried out under The Official Secrets Act which gave authority for such action and which Mr. Smith said was never intended to be used to track down spies.

"It was never thought until recently that any Canadian government would have to track down spies in its own service," replied Mr. St. Laurent.

The minister said those being held for questioning were not being denied the right of habeas corpus.

HE HAD NOT YET had an opportunity to check on statements made Monday night by M. J. Coldwell that some of the accused were being kept for lengthy periods in rooms where bright lights burned constantly. He would investigate and report to the house.

"I talked with members of the commission in connection with the accused and it was agreed inconspicuously that those held to be as little and at short a time as possible."

Unfortunately, it had not been possible to conclude the inquiry in a short space of time.

Of his statement last December that there was no secret order—counselled Mr. St. Laurent said: "I hope no one will believe that I would wish to mislead this house."

WHEN THE QUESTION about whether had admitted he had thought of the order passed Oct. 6 and providing for the detention of persons in connection with the espionage case.

The order was passed when he was expected Dr. May would establish on Oct. 7 that meeting with Russian agents in London. But the meeting never materialized.

Apparently with reference to the espionage produced by Igor Gouzenko, Russian cipher clerk who tipped off Canadian authorities to the espionage ring, Mr. St. Laurent said plans for Dr. Gouzenko's meeting were an "Oppenheimer" detective thriller.

The plans called for a street corner meeting with identification to be established by the carrying of a paper under the left arm and through certain forms of greeting.

HAD THE CONTACT been established the Canadian government was advised to be prepared to make arrests in Canada.

Mr. St. Laurent said E. K. Williams, K.C. of Winnipeg, was counsel of the commission, had been the first to suggest members of the supreme court sit on the commission.

The two justices examined the documents produced by Gouzenko and pronounced them to be authentic.

The minister said he was "disappointed" that it had been necessary so long before they could be interrogated and the commission could make its final report.

IT WAS UNFORTUNATE for those held and also for the public because it appeared the "important question is not that the public safety has been undermined but that something might be done which would be prejudicial to an accused when he is brought to a court of justice."

"We are all as much attached, as the honorable member (Mr. St. Laurent) is, to the rights and liberties of our nationals."

Rimbey's junior club, affiliated with the Rimbey Fish and Game Association has a membership of 60 and was the first of its class to be organized in the province. Several number more than 100 and another 25 were laid up at the banquet.

Cooke and John Reid, both of the Rimbey district, and the Rimbey district second and third prizes, $25 and $15 in cash, went to Joe Fleming and Alvin Goetz, both of the Rimbey district.

Mr. St. Laurent said the inquiry was one of those cases where the government was not free to disclose more than it already had and he said that Canada did not feel that she should be used as a base for spying operations against her southern neighbors.

THE ROYAL COMMISSION was not empowered to decide who was guilty but the extent of the "fifth column" in the country.

Following Mr. St. Laurent, Agriculture Minister Gardiner turned to a review of the food situation in Europe. He said returns to farmers in Canada were not as high as in Britain possibly will be higher than returns during the war years.

For Utilities Extension

City Council Gives Approval To $4,156,000 of 1946 Budget

City Council Tuesday tentatively agreed to expenditures totalling $4,156,000 for extensions to city-owned utilities, and for general construction work to be carried out by the city engineer's department, including a $70,000 paving program.

OF THIS AMOUNT $2,660,410 will be spent from the reserve accounts of the utilities, and $1,496,410 by the engineer's department.

These expenditures are additional to the $3,800,481 proposed on general account, and which will be considered at a further meeting of council to be held Wednesday night. It is anticipated that the consideration of estimates will be concluded at a final meeting to be held later this week and the mill rate for the year struck.

While no recommendation has been made by the city commissioner, it is understood that negotiations have been carried out by street railway employees, and certain employees in the power house, for a reduction in working hours from 48 to 44 hours weekly with the same take home pay. Commissioner John Hodgson stated that agreement had been reached with the police department employees for the institution of the 44 hour week, and that the increased cost to the department was carried in the budget figures. The increase is listed in the departmental estimates at $9,000.

THE ADOPTION of the 44 hour week in the street railway department would mean the employment of an additional 26 men, and an increase in the payroll cost of approximately $25,000.

The Fire Fighters' Union are seeking the starting of the third platoon system on May 1 instead of July 1, and will appear before council Tuesday in support of this request. The estimates presented to council provide for the system to be inaugurated on July 1. An additional 41 men will be employed by the department with a payroll increase of $37,000 approximately.

Also in the estimates is an amount of $42,000 covering the purchase of a 100-foot aerial ladder, treatment plant, and the power and a 1500-gallon pumper machine for the fire department. It is anticipated that this equipment will be purchased from the Merryweather Co., British manufacturers.

A TOTAL OF $6,882 will be spent on capital account for alterations and improvements to the public library. These include the purchase of a piano, alterations to the children's room, remodeling the lecture room for use as a music room, installation of fluorescent lighting, and the covering of a bus for library purposes.

In the utility departments' estimates it is anticipated that $1,181,314 will be set aside this year in reserve accounts which will balance on hand in the accounts at Jan. 1 will leave a total of $3,975,308 available in the accounts. With expenditures scheduled for the year the carry-over in the accounts into 1947 will be $1,315,538.

In the electric light department a total of $481,300 will be expended. Of this amount $120,700 will be spent on street lighting to give greater volume of light on all high-ways approaching the city, on 103 avenue from 124 street to 140 street, and on Stony Plain Road and 101 avenue from 101 street to 124 street. Other utilities in the downtown area also will be supplied with intensified lighting.

A total of $34,100 will be spent on manholes and vaults, and $18,500 on a new substation at 600 street and 124 avenue, including equipment for the building.

NEW SERVICES, equipment, renewal of transformers and meters, replacing rotten poles, and remodeling poles will cost approximately $75,000.

Two major projects are being undertaken by the power plant. They are the continuation of the construction of the additional water treatment plant, and the power plant extension. It is proposed to expend $400,000 on the former this year, and $217,000 on the plant extension.

City Commissioner R. J. Gibb reported that tenders called on the water treatment plant were about $200,000 in excess of the original estimate made several years ago. He said that the increase in cost was due partly to a change in design, but that about $100,000 of the increase was due to construction cost increases. The tenders submitted will be placed before city council at its next regular meeting, he said.

In the street railway department it is proposed to spend $800,000 of which $470,000 is for the purchase of 23 trolley coaches, $125,000 for a trolley coach barn addition at the street railway yards, and $205,000 for a bus garage and workshop.

CONSTRUCTION WORK to be carried out in connection with the change over to trolley bus operation on the high level bridge route will cost approximately $102,000. Construction of a double track, or 114 avenue will cost $7,000, and the double tracking on 124 street from 118 avenue to 123 street $5,000. The replacing of steel on 101 street between 140 and 100 avenues is estimated to cost $25,000. Expenditures in the telephone department will amount to $427,000, and will include $258,200 for the purchase of 2,800 lines of central office equipment to be used in the telephone exchanges. It is not expected that this equipment will be delivered until 1947.

ALSO INCLUDED in the estimates is $120,000 for the completion of the addition to the central exchange. Robert Christie, superintendent of the system has told assistant that when the addition is completed it will meet downtown requirements for at least 25 years. Other items in this department include the expenditure of $27,400 for underground cable extensions.

Capital expenditures by the city engineer's department include $100,000 for walks and crossings with $65,000 of this expenditure being charged against property. Grading, travelling, boulevarding, and curbing will cost $100,000 on this cost, the balance being charged against property.

PAVING PROJECTS to be undertaken during 1946 will total $710,000, of which $111,888 will be borne by the city at large, $197,284 in property and $400,825 by the street railway department.

A total of $116,729 will be spent in redecking 105 street bridge, the bridge on Saskatchewan Drive near 107 street, the bridge on the Whitemud creek road, and the preparing the deck of the high level bridge for trolley bus operation.

Sewer and drainage construction of meters $25,000. Renewal of ex-

It is proposed to spend $100,000 in miscellaneous work in parks, drinks and canteens, and $100,000 will be available to the Recreation Commission for 1946 operations.

INSTALLATION of traffic lights at 100, 102 and 100 streets and Jasper avenue, at 100 street and 102 avenue, and at 101 street and 104 avenue will cost approximately $7,500.

In addition to passing the capital estimates for the utilities and the engineer's department, the council gave tentative approval to general estimates of the utility departments.

Compensation Act Committee Refused

A resolution requesting the government to select a special committee to hear representatives in regard to amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act was turned down in the Legislature Tuesday afternoon on a voice vote.

The motion, standing in the name of Elmer E. Roper (CPC-Edmonton), had been discussed by the mover at a previous sitting of the Legislature. Debate on that occasion was adjourned by A. E. Lee (SC-Edgewood), who opposed the resolution with the claim that to reopen the Compensation Act two years before it should normally be reopened might establish a precedent which would be difficult to break.

AS CHAIRMAN James Hartley came to vote for the Social Credit Board in the estimates, Mr. Roper rose in his place and groans from the Social Credit side of the House. He claimed the right to express his views.

Anyone who has any opinion unless it fits the policy of the Social Credit Board, he said, and added "So have the members of the Social Credit Board, but not at the expense of other people."

It is wrong," he declared, "that public money should be spent for the purpose of slandering other

SC Board Expense

Under Fire by CCF

If Social Creditors and the Alberta Social Credit Board are permitted to quote opinions of obscure European socialists as representatives of Canadian socialism, then he should have the right to quote the opinions of Major C. H. Douglas, founder of Douglas Social Credit, as representing the views of Alberta government, according to Elmer E. Roper (CPC-Edmonton), who rose in the Legislature Tuesday afternoon to protest the appropriation of $20,404 for the Social Credit Board.

SINCE 1933 MAJ. DOUGLAS has developed a "phobia" against what he calls "billion box democracy," the CCF leader claimed, and has been developing the theme that the great mass of the people have no right to make decisions because they are ignorant of the problem facing governments.

More important, he has also developed a "race phobia" against certain race, Mr. Roper claimed, and read extracts from a letter he claimed were written by Major Douglas to prove his point in this regard. He read extracts from the "Social Creditier" which had been written by the major, which also carried out this theme.

He did not suggest that members of the government or of the Social Credit Board supported any of the contentions of a man who has been requested as an authority on Social Credit, but he did suggest that he had the right to tell the public that it was just so long as the government's propaganda continued to quote from speeches of socialists who were speaking of different interests by the major, which also carried out this theme.

AS CHAIRMAN James Hartley came to vote for the Social Credit Board in the estimates, Mr. Roper rose in his place and groans from the Social Credit side of the House. He claimed the right to express his views.

Anyone who has any opinion unless it fits the policy of the Social Credit Board, he said, and added "So have the members of the Social Credit Board, but not at the expense of other people."

It is wrong," he declared, "that public money should be spent for the purpose of slandering other political groups and attacking other political parties—particularly one political party." HE ACCUSED the Social Credit Board of being prolific quoters of placing many different quotations on quotations it used. Before he read the anti-democratic and anti-Semitic quotations said to come from the pen of Major Douglas he claimed that he had been reading Major Douglas since before the member for Lac Ste. Anne (A. V. Bourcier) had ever heard of him.

Though Maj. Douglas' analysis of some of the things wrong with the economic set-up had been accurate, those who read him continually are driven to the impression that economic discussion has been shoved aside and that the Major now deals with international questions, racialism and with other countries, notably Russia.

Social Credit members were eager to enter into a debate on the questions brought forward by the Edmonton member but the committee adjourned without passing the appropriation.

School Criticism Remarks Explained

When he made remarks stating the condition of some schools in northern sections of the province as being poor and fit only for the starving of livestock, he had meant no reflection on the ability or the work of teachers in that area, J. C. Halmstad (SC-Warner) said in the Legislature Tuesday afternoon when orders of the day were called.

He was making reference to submissions which had been made to him as an executive of the Alberta School Trustees Association. Some bitterness had been aroused by his published statement, the Warner member said, and offered the explanation that no slight on the administrative abilities of school boards had been intended.

COMMENDATIONS UNKNOWN

LONDON—(CP)—Beligion was abolished by the Nazis to such an extent that an education officer in the British zone of Germany found works of 12-year-old schoolboys in Schleswig-Holstein learning the first of the commandments—of debt retirement for the Alberta which they had never even heard of Great Waterways Highway.

Assembly Passes

Public Debt Vote

Through progress was not as rapid as it had been in former sittings of this session of the Legislature in dealing with estimates, the assembly Tuesday did express its approval of the expenditure of $3,800,000 on public debt charges and plowed through most of the estimates for the department of economic affairs.

Debate on the refunding scheme and the cost to the people of Alberta was resumed by Elmer E. Roper (CPC-Edmonton), who was minister of finance, to support his claim that the money which was paid out to the bondholders in connection with the refunding wiped out any saving that might have accrued to the government from the slaking of interest rates on Alberta bonds.

He stressed the point that money made available to the provincial government by the federal authorities was money which would have been available in any case had Alberta continued to honor her bonds at full interest rates.

HE AGREED with Premier Ernest Manning's suggestion made in a previous occasion that there was no technical connection between premium adjustment and back interest.

There is a practical connection, he contended, and said that the minister of finance did not say there was no connection between these two factors. Arrangements were made to pay back interest no matter what it was called, he stated.

Before the Legislature left estimates for public debt charges, questions were asked about estimates for which an allotment of $25,000 appears. The premier said that more than $1,000,000 was still outstanding in this category. Two hundred and fifty-two thousand two hundred and ten dollars of this was in old certificates and $88,275 was of the new category. Some of the older certificates had been exchanged for new ones.

HE EXPLAINED in answer to the last question some of the details of the debt retirement for the Alberta which they had never even heard of Great Waterways Highway.

Women's Institute Hears Mrs. Haynes Tell of Drama

Those who are living a new age where the things of the spirit must be given their full need of attention, declared Mrs. Elizabeth Haynes, when she addressed 150 members of the Women's Institute of Alberta, district No. 2, at a banquet in the Corona hotel, Tuesday evening.

The banquet marked the conclusion of the first day of a two-day conference being held by the Institute in Edmonton, in the Masonic Temple.

Speaking on "Drama Fundamentals," the speaker pointed out that in Britain, drama is stressed as a recreation, being an outlet for both young and old. An example of what can be done in even a small town was shown by Mrs. Haynes, who referred to the town of Clonmel, which won the Dominion trophy, in the Dominion festival, playing "The Hour."

A GOOD play has three main points: characterization, plot and good dialogue. Characterization must be true to life, while the plot must be logical and plausible. Good dialogue must be logical and true for each character.

A number of good plays are being written by Alberta authors, and these should be used to further our culture. The art of acting was the most difficult of all arts, since

Who's Who in Edmon-Teens

The player must be both performer and instrument.

Dealing with the technicalities of drama, the speaker said stage direction is a player's lighted stage on which an actor moves freely. The stage setting should be consistent with the story in order to bring out the characters. Determine where the action is to take place and arrange furniture according. The entire stage must be the dominant spot.

MRS. HAYNES traced the development of drama in history, and showed how drama began merely as dances, with the addition of words coming later. The external question in drama is "why," said the speaker and the director must study and create scenes he is trying to produce. The scientific approach to acting consists of observation, observation and education of the five senses, said Mrs. Haynes. She added that any play, however, must be approached in a truth and sincerity.

In studying a play, first of all, study each character, write a biography of what makes him act as he does and why," she said. She advised that the script be studied scene by scene, and the director must produce action and reaction throughout. The situation must be true to life at all times.

Mrs. Haynes concluded with the thought that education is important in three instances, to and from action and through the voice, where emotion truly will automatically appear in the voice.

Must Guarantee Four Freedoms

Speaking to the Edmonton C.I.Women's Club on Monday evening at the Labor Temple, Joe M. McKenzie, chairman of the local branch of the U.N.O., stated that it is only one way now left to the nations of the world.

This lies through co-operation, exchange of ideas and the elimination of starvation and suspicion wherever it is found.

"We must guarantee the four freedoms to all people. These are: freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of economic life and freedom of security."

The U.N.O. meeting at San Francisco drew up a charter which provides the machinery for the good will but it remains for the nations themselves to make the machinery work.

THE COURT of International Justice was formed to try war criminals, settle boundary disputes and organize a world army to maintain order by force if necessary.

The economic and social council deals with food and other necessities to avert famine and privation.

The scientific council seeks to pool the world's knowledge of science and atomic energy with a view to making it constructive instead of a destructive force.

The speaker showed how discussion in the U.N.O. has brought nations, between provinces, communities and finally between individuals, and that where the change must start.

EDMONTON STAYS intensely at the forefront and would be a focal point in the event of another war. It therefore behooves us to find in self interest to fight for peace with the same vigor and courage for victory," the speaker said.

"There is no time to be lost—let's wake up before it is too late."

Mrs. McKenzie concluded his remarks with a plea for membership in the local U.N.O. club.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. B. Marlin and lunch was served by Mrs. S. G. Caldwell, Mrs. D. Baraginsky and Mrs. Lee Green.

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

WHY TOSS THE BULL?

Oh, aren't the only gals who you spill more than a little of what you read inside information. You may think it's only fair to let the other fellows in on it too. But it's not a good thing. So the things girls say and do when they date you become the unfinished business of the next session. Blow by blow descriptions of what went on are read into the minutes.

Some of the stuff you tell is a tall story. You'd hate to admit that your date with Jo Anne was just. You didn't know what to do, and you tripped over your own big feet. You ran out of small talk, and the two of you spent the evening in silence. Yes, you'd hate to admit that your date was your fault. So you blame it all on Jo Anne. She's not around anyway to stand up for herself and tell what she thinks.

So you lead a rather fearful. Your side of the tale makes Jo Anne sound pretty dismal. But, ladies . . . steer clear of Jo Anne. She'll tell the whole story to the next session. Blow by blow descriptions of what went on are read into the minutes.

Mary Irene York Is Recent Bride

Strathcona Baptist church parsonage was the scene of a wedding Feb. 4 at 7 p.m. when Miss Mary Irene, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. York of Wetaskiwin, became the bride of Mr. York's son, Charles K. Holgate of Edmonton. The Rev. George Edwards officiated.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline. Long tulle and full skirt, the long sleeves ending in lily points over the wrists. Her floor-length veil was caught to her head with a heart-shaped halo, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

After a honeymoon in Calgary, the bride and groom have taken up residence at 10831 80 avenue. The bride's bridesmaids were Misses Margaret and Ronald Gordon of Lacombe. Mr. Reid proposed the toast to the bride couple.
